by Maura Keefe

The PillowNotes series comprises essays commissioned from our Scholars in-Residence to provide audiences with a broader context for viewing dance.

For a long time, cellist Maya Beiser hasn’t really fit the expectations of what a classical musician looks like or what a classical musician does. She’s a founding member of Bang on a Can, she plays music from Dorfle and Bach to Pink Floyd, Hindou and Bingen, and Lou Reed. In an interview when asked about being called a “cello rockstar” and “cello goddess,” she answered, “I imagine it’s because I’m not conforming as a classical performer to the habits people expect. Part of it, curiously, is about what I wear and how I express myself on stage. It’s true I do care about the visual aspect. I think it of as an art form—a total performance.”

That sense of the performance and the visual feeds Beiser’s imagination and led her to imagine an idea for a new project. She’s had lots of ideas in the past. But also, about how music relates to other art forms, especially in the visual realm. But this idea was different. This time, she wanted to experiment with a close collaboration in the dance world.

First, she reached out to Wendy Whelan. Of course, Whelan makes sense. For her, Beiser’s knowledge and intelligence, her sense of adventure as an artist. As the internationally acclaimed dancer began planning to retire from her role as principal ballerina with New York City Ballet, she was already experimenting with commissioning new works. For example, she danced a series of new duets, called Restless Creatures, which premiered as at Jacob’s Pillow in 2013. Right from the beginning of her professional dance career, Whelan has been drawn to music. In a New York Times piece, she recalled feeling as if she had been struck by lightning when seeing George Balanchine’s Aegon. “In that moment, I discovered the dancer I wanted to one day become—a dancer devoted to choreography and choreographers, a dancer who would be, I hope, a vessel for music, a dancer who would offer her best self in every inch of her work.” Master dancer joins master musician.

Then came the question of choreographer. Lucinda Childs came to mind, because of what Beiser calls, “her inclination and sensitivity to music.” Beiser knew of the brilliant collaborations between Childs and composer Philip Glass for such works as Einstein on the Beach, with Robert Wilson (1976) and Dance, with Sol LeWitt (1979). When Dance was restaged in 2011, The Guardian dance critic Judith Mackrell wrote, “Childs’s choreography and the dancing also brings a hallucinatory visual clarity to Glass’s score.” Beiser trusted that Childs would expand all of their vocabularies and embark on a genuine choreographic exploration with Whelan. Master choreographer joins the collective, and they begin to work on the DAV. And each of the women expands her points of view, all in relation to the others.

It all starts with music. Beiser had already started working with composer David Lang on a commissioned solo work for cello on September 11, 2001. They were both living in New York, and thus the work, shaped by both geography and history, became “A World To Come” (2003). Beiser explores the piece as an “investigation of ‘life after death, a Jewish mystical concept of what happens when we die and how the soul separates from the body.” In 2016, Beiser commissioned a kind of prequel, which resulted in Lang’s piece, “the day.” As Lang describes it, “the day looks at ways we review our lives, exploring remembered moments as a chronicle of a life.” New York Times critic Joshua Barone says the music is, “by turns hopeful, funny, surprising and tragic.”

The DAV (2019), which premieres at Jacob’s Pillow, brings both Lang’s compositions together in a new way, with Beiser and Whelan in a duet of music and dance. Beiser was intrigued to see what Whelan and Childs would make of music, she knew so intimately, because as she remarked, “Collaborators are powerful when they open a new window.” He went on to say, “Or to make music is completely different from musicians.” That sentiment echoes a statement David Lang made in a PillowTalk in 2011. “I really like what dance does to my music. They don’t always do a lot. They focus on one kind of thing, one idea, one sound…It changes what you hear. It changes what you see…I like how it changes what I think is in the music. Sometimes I will write the music and you’re still trying to figure out what the hell it is yourself.”

Each of the collaborators is an experienced and mature artist. Whelan contends that this makes it all the better, “I feel that, being this age, I have something to say that I didn’t when I was 25—something real and worked and experienced. I want to work with live choreographers, dance to live music. I want everything to be alive, full of life.”

Onstage, Whelan and Beiser. The dancer and the musician, united. In the music, the body and the soul, they belong together, how they part.
MEMBERSHIP SUPPORTS EVERYTHING YOU LOVE ABOUT JACOB’S PILLOW

JOIN OUR THOUSANDS OF MEMBERS & SUPPORT THE MISSION OF JACOB’S PILLOW.

You can help the Pillow present outstanding dance artists from around the world, provide training and support to the talented dancers of The School at Jacob’s Pillow, maintain our landmark site, and create free community programs that engage people of all ages and backgrounds with dance.

EVERY GIFT MATTERS. JOIN AND CHOOSE THE LEVEL RIGHT FOR YOU!

Explore the full list of benefits, then join as a new Member, renew your current membership, or upgrade to a higher level at jacobspillow.org/support/membership.

You can also make a donation by phone at 413.243.9919 x122.

Sustaining members support the Pillow year-round through easy, automatic monthly or quarterly gifts.

Depending on your level, membership gives you access to:

- Early Ticketing
- Fan level & above
- Admission to Cast Parties
- Contributor level & above
- Pillow Lab showings where you can witness the creative process
- Supporter level & above
- Priority Parking Passes
- Partners’ Circle level & above
- Invitations to Member-Exclusive Events
- Discounts in The Pillow Store

Help make dance creation, presentation, education, and preservation at Jacob’s Pillow possible.

Thank you!

FUNDING AND SUPPORT

THE DAY was conceived by Maya Beiser.

THE DAY was made possible by the New England Foundation for the Arts’ National Dance Project, with lead funding from the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation and The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation.

THE DAY was commissioned by Théâtre de la Ville, Paris; Carolina Performing Arts at The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill; Jacob's Pillow (world premiere at Festival 2019); The Joyce Theater; and Center for the Art of Performance at UCLA.

THE DAY was supported, in part, by the Inaugural Artist Fellowship at The Joyce Theater Foundation’s Artist Residency Center, made possible by lead funding from The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, Howard Gilman Foundation, LuEsther T. Mertz Charitable Trust, and Doris Duke Charitable Foundation. Additional commissioning support was provided by the Wendy Whelan New Works Initiative.

Substantial development support for THE DAY was provided by LUMBERYARD Contemporary Performing Arts and Summer Stages Dance @ ICA/Boston. Additional development support was provided by Baryshnikov Arts Center.

THE DAY was supported in part by a Fay Chandler Faculty Creativity Grant from the MIT Center for Art, Science & Technology.

“world to come” by David Lang was commissioned in 2003 for Maya Beiser by Carnegie Hall, the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, UC Santa Cruz Arts & Lectures, On the Boards, and Connecticut College, with support from Meet The Composer. "the day" by David Lang was commissioned in 2016 for Maya Beiser by Hancher Performances at the University of Iowa.

THE DAY

Maya Beiser
Wendy Whelan

Lucinda Childs
David Lang
Sara Brown
Dave Cook
Joshua Higgason
Natasha Katz
Karen Young
Maya Beiser
Christina Jensen
Emily Mcgillicuddy
Alejandro Fajardo
Jess Miedenbach

Part 1: the day
Part 2: world to come

Recorded vocals, text, and multitrack cello performed by Maya Beiser.

the day and world to come composed by David Lang are performed by arrangement with G. Schirmer, Inc., music publisher and copyright owner.

Substantial development support for THE DAY was provided by LUMBERYARD Contemporary Performing Arts and Summer Stages Dance @ ICA/Boston. Additional development support was provided by Baryshnikov Arts Center.

THE DAY was supported in part by a Fay Chandler Faculty Creativity Grant from the MIT Center for Art, Science & Technology.

“world to come” by David Lang was commissioned in 2003 for Maya Beiser by Carnegie Hall, the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, UC Santa Cruz Arts & Lectures, On the Boards, and Connecticut College, with support from Meet The Composer. "the day" by David Lang was commissioned in 2016 for Maya Beiser by Hancher Performances at the University of Iowa.

THE DAY

Maya Beiser
Christina Jensen
Emily Mcgillicuddy
Alejandro Fajardo
Jess Miedenbach

Part 1: the day
Part 2: world to come

Recorded vocals, text, and multitrack cello performed by Maya Beiser.

the day and world to come composed by David Lang are performed by arrangement with G. Schirmer, Inc., music publisher and copyright owner.

Substantial development support for THE DAY was provided by LUMBERYARD Contemporary Performing Arts and Summer Stages Dance @ ICA/Boston. Additional development support was provided by Baryshnikov Arts Center.

THE DAY was supported in part by a Fay Chandler Faculty Creativity Grant from the MIT Center for Art, Science & Technology.

“world to come” by David Lang was commissioned in 2003 for Maya Beiser by Carnegie Hall, the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, UC Santa Cruz Arts & Lectures, On the Boards, and Connecticut College, with support from Meet The Composer. "the day" by David Lang was commissioned in 2016 for Maya Beiser by Hancher Performances at the University of Iowa.

Established in 1940 by the late Isadora Duncan, Jacob’s Pillow is the longest-running dance festival in the United States. Located on a 200-acre campus in the Berkshires, Jacob’s Pillow is committed to providing an inclusive environment that cultivates the celebration of the art of dance and its positive impact on communities.

We are dedicated to fostering a safe, comfortable, and enjoyable experience for everyone on our beautiful campus. You, as patrons and visitors of Jacob’s Pillow, are expected to contribute to our mutually respectful and welcoming community and support the world of dance and all its citizens for generations to come.

If you have any suggestions, comments, or incidents to report, please direct them to Deputy Director A.J. Pietrantone at apietrantone@jacobspillow.org.

HOUSE RULES:

While in our theaters, please refrain from behavior that could disturb other patrons and performers during the performance. Thank you for observing these House Rules so that everyone can have an enjoyable experience.

- Silence cell phones
- Photography & recording are prohibited
- Other than water, food & beverages are prohibited
- Keep your ticket with you at all times
- Let a staff member know if you need help

We are so glad you are here. Enjoy the show!
Dance and Flamenco Festival

at New York City Center, Manhattan Theatre Club, Playwrights Horizons, and New York Theatre Workshop.
fajardodesigns.com

JOSHUA HIGGASON (Projection Designer) is a designer of performances, creating unique live experiences for events, concerts, opera, and theater. He designs video and projections, interactive media, sets, and lighting. He started working in experimental theater and art with some groundbreaking companies and has continued developing into a unique voice in the world of immersive media driven experiences. He currently teaches Performance Media, Interactive Design for Live Performance, and Lighting Design at MIT. joshuahiggason.net

NATASHA KATZ (Lighting Designer) has designed extensively for theater, opera, dance, concerts, and permanent lighting installations around the world. Her work in dance incudes lighting for The Royal Ballet in London, American Ballet Theatre, The Joffrey Ballet, San Francisco Ballet, The National Ballet of Canada, New York City Ballet, Pennsylvania Ballet, and Ballet Hispanico. Katz has a long-standing creative relationship with The Royal Ballet of Canada, New York City Ballet, and The National Ballet of Canada. She has collaborated extensively with choreographer Wheeldon, having designed the lighting for premieres at The Royal Ballet of Canada, New York City Ballet, The National Ballet of Canada, and Miami City Ballet, among many others. She designed the costumes for Wheeldon’s projects Restless Creature and Some of a Thousand Words and is currently directing the reconstruction and design of the costumes of Martha Graham’s entire repertoire for the Martha Graham Dance Company. Young has designed the costumes for the video works of Eve Sussman, Tony Dove, Matthew Barney’s Cremaster 1 and Cremaster 5, David Michalek’s large-scale outdoor video installations Slow Dancing and Portraits in Dramatic Time, and Michelle Handelman’s Hustlers and Empires. She has taught at the Rhode Island School of Design and the Metropolitan Museum of Art and received research grants from the NEA/TCG development program and the London College of Fashion. karenyoungcostume.com

JESS MEDENBACH (Projection Supervisor) is a video and media designer, filmmaker, editor, and producer, originally from the Hudson Valley in Upstate New York. Medenbach’s work ranges from media for theater, opera, and live events to Augmented and Virtual Reality applications, short films, music videos, and video installations. Medenbach has worked throughout the United States and Europe, had work displayed in Times Square and has been written about in The New York Times and The Creators Project. Medenbach holds an M.F.A. in Video and Media Design from Carnegie Mellon University and a B.F.A. in Film Production and Electronic Arts from Bard College. jessmedenbach.com

KAREN YOUNG (Costume Designer) is a New York-based costume designer who has designed for numerous dance companies and contemporary video artists. Her costume designs for dance are included in the repertoires of the Martha Graham Dance Company, Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater, Kyle Abraham, Brian Brooks, Sidi Larbi Cherkaoui, Acosta Danza Cuba, Pontus Lidberg, Hubbard Street Dance Chicago, Paul Taylor Dance Company, American Ballet Theatre, Ballet Basel, Pam Tanowitz, Sonya Tayeh, and Miami City Ballet, among many others. She designed the costumes for Wheeldon’s projects Restless Creature and Some of a Thousand Words and is currently directing the reconstruction and design of the costumes of Martha Graham’s entire repertoire for the Martha Graham Dance Company. Young has designed the costumes for the video works of Eve Sussman, Tony Dove, Matthew Barney’s Cremaster 1 and Cremaster 5, David Michalek’s large-scale outdoor video installations Slow Dancing and Portraits in Dramatic Time, and Michelle Handelman’s Hustlers and Empires. She has taught at the Rhode Island School of Design and the Metropolitan Museum of Art and received research grants from the NEA/TCG development program and the London College of Fashion. karenyoungcostume.com

A Note from Maya Beiser

THE DAY is a response to two solo cello works written for me by the composer David Lang – the day and world to come.

The music for the second part, world to come, was actually composed first. A commission from Carnegie Hall, we began working on the piece in September 2001. Both David and I were in New York City when the devastating events of September 11 unfolded. The piece became suffused with the disappearance of the thousands of people who vanished into the ashes of the World Trade Center (WTC) that day. world to come (also sharing the initials, wtc) is a kind of prayer–introspective and personal; a meditation on the eternal, post-mortal journey of the soul as it separates from the body. The first half of this production, the day, is based on the prequel composition of the same title, written in 2016. Exploring the ways we remember our lives, as they are running away from us, Lang crowd-sourced the narrated text from the Internet. Every phrase that completed the sentence “I remember the day” was treated as a personal statement from someone, somewhere, about a moment that was so significant it felt worth holding onto. The text, appearing every six seconds, is arranged like a prism in an alphabetical order—with many conflicting facets of each action described from different vantage points.

During the time I recorded these two pieces for an album, I kept seeing images of a woman, a dancer, emerging from the notes of the cello—embodifying the voices, recounting these stories, inhabiting these memories, possessing those lives.

Working with Wendy Whelan and Lucinda Childs on this project has been a dream come true. We embarked on this project as a collaborative effort, truly respecting each other as artists. We are blessed to be working with such an extraordinary team: Sara Brown, Dave Cook, Joshua Higgason, Natasha Katz, Karen Young, Emily McGillicuddy, and Christina Jensen, have all been extraordinary.

BIOS

MAYA BEISER (Performer/ Creative Producer) has been described as a renowned cellist, producer, and multifaceted artist. The New York Times writes, “The adventurous Ms. Beiser has been called the ‘cello goddess,’ which is not hyperbole: She summons from her instrument an emotional power so stirring that even the most stoic audience members risk turning into sobbing sacks of flesh.” Passionately forging her artistic path through uncharted territories, Beiser has been captivating audiences worldwide, bringing a bold and unorthodox presence to contemporary classical music, experimenting with various musical styles, and defying conventional norms with her boundary-crossing performances. Hailed as “the reigning queen of avant-garde cello” by The Washington Post, she has been called a “cello rock star,” by Rolling Stone and praised as “a force of nature,” by The Boston Globe. Raised in the Galilee Mountains in Israel by her Argentinean father and French mother, Beiser spent her early life surrounded by Jews, Muslims, and Christians, while studying classical cello repertoire. At the age of 12, she was discovered by the late violinist Isaac Stern who became her mentor throughout her early career. She is a featured performer on the world’s most prestigious stages including Lincoln Center, Carnegie Hall, BAM, The Kennedy Center, BBC Proms, London's Southbank Centre, Royal Albert Hall, the Barbican, Sydney Opera House, Beijing Festival, Barcelona’s L’Auditori, Paris’ Cité de la Musique, and Stockholm’s Concert Hall. Beiser’s critically acclaimed multimedia productions World To Come, Almost Human, Provenance, Elsewhere: A Cello Opera, All Vows, and Spinning have consistently been chosen for top critics’ “Best Of The Year” lists.

Among the wide range of artists she has collaborated with are Louis Andriessen, Brian Eno, Philip Glass, Tan Dun, Steve Reich, Shirin Neshat, Bill Morrison, Robert Woodruff, and Lucinda Childs.

Beiser’s vast discography includes 11 solo albums. Her recent albums TranceClassical (2016) and Maya Beiser: Uncovered (2014) topped the classical music charts. Her next album, delugeeon, will be released in August 2019 on Beiser’s new Islandia Music Records imprint. She is the featured soloist on many film soundtracks, including an extensive collaboration with composer James Newton Howard for M. Night Shyamalan’s The Happening and After Earth, Denzel Washington’s The Great Debaters, Edward Zwick’s Blood Diamond, and Rupert Sanders’ Snow White and the Huntsman.

Beiser is a 2015 United States Artists (USA) Distinguished...
Lucinda Childs (Choreographer) began her career at the Judson Dance Theater in New York in 1963. Since forming her dance company ten years later, she has created over 50 works, both solo and ensemble. In 1976 she was featured in the landmark avant-garde opera Eisenstein on the Beach by Philip Glass and Robert Wilson, for which she won an Obie Award. She subsequently appeared in a number of Wilson's productions, including I Was Sitting on My Patio This Guy Appeared I Thought I Was Hallucinating, Quartet, by Heln Weiller, Willams and Glass's opera White Raven, Wilson's video project Video 50, and Maladie de la Mort by Marguerite Duras (opposite Michel Piccoli). Most recently, she appeared in Wilson's production of Arvo Part's Adam's Passion also recorded and spoken text and collaborated on the choreography for Letter to a Man, which was based on Ninjinsky's diaries and performed by Mikhail Baryshnikov.

In 1979 Childs choreographed one of her most enduring works, Dance, with music by Philip Glass and film décor by Sol LeWitt, which continues to tour internationally and has been added to the repertory of the Lyon Opera Ballet, for which she has choreographed Beethoven's Grande Fugue. In 2015 she received Avant-Light, created in 1983 with music by John Adams and a split-level set by Frank Gehry. It was presented at the Festival d'Automne in Paris and the Manchester International Festival. In 2016, in an exhibit titled “Nothing Personal,” her choreographic scores were shown at the Thaddeus Ropac Gallery in collaboration with the Centre Nationale de la Danse, to which she has donated her archive. Since 1981 Childs has choreographed over thirty works for major ballet companies, including the Paris Opera Ballet and Les Ballets de Monte Carlo. She has also directed and choreographed a number of contemporary and eighteenth-century operas, including Gluck's Orfeo ed Euridice for the Los Angeles Opera, Mozart's Zaide for La Monnaie in Brussels, Stravinsky's Le Rossignol and Oedipe, Vitaldi's Farnace, Handel's Alessandro, and John Adams's Dr. Atomic for the Opera du Rhin. Her production of Jean Baptiste Lully's Atys premiered at Opéra Kiel in 2014 and her production of Jean-Marie Leclair's Scylla and Glaucus premiered there in 2017.

Childs is the recipient of numerous awards. She holds the rank of Commandeur in France’s Ordre des Arts et des Lettres and in 2017 she received the Golden Lion award from the Venice Biennale and the Samuel H. Scripps American Dance Festival award for lifetime achievement. In 2018, Childs was inducted into the Hall of Fame at the National Museum of Dance. lucindachilds.com

David Lang (Words & Music) is one of the most highly esteemed and performed American composers writing today. The New Yorker wrote: “With his winning of the Pulitzer Prize for ‘the little match girl passion’ (one of the most original and moving scores of recent years), Lang, once a postminimalist enfant terrible, has solidified his standing as an American master.” His works have been performed around the world in most of the great concert halls. Lang’s “simple song #3,” written as part of his score for Paolo Sorrentino’s acclaimed film YOUTH, received many award nominations in 2016, including the Academy Award and Golden Globe. Recent work include his opera prisoner of the state, which premiered in June 2019 with the New York City Opera the loser, which opened the 2016 Next Wave Festival at the Brooklyn Academy of Music and received a West Coast premiere in April 2019 with LA Opera; the public domain for 1000 singers, which premiered at Lincoln’s bicentennial Mostly Mozart Festival; his chamber opera anatomy theater premiered at the Prototype Festival in New York and then at LA Opera; the concerto man made for the ensemble So Percussion and a consortium of orchestras, including the BBC Symphony and the Los Angeles Philharmonic; mountain, commissioned by the Cincinnati Symphony; death speaks, a song cycle based on Schubert, but performed by rock musicians, including Bryce Dessymani Bank and Shara Worden from My Brightest Diamond; the whisper opera, for the International Contemporary Ensemble and soprano Tony Arnold; and iave fail, an evening-length work for the early music vocal ensemble Anonymous 4.

Lang is a Professor of Music Composition at the Yale School of Music and is Artist in Residence at the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton. He is co-founder and co-artistic director of New York’s legendary music collective Bang on a Can. His music is published by Red Poppy Music (ASCAP) and is distributed worldwide by G. Schirmer, Inc. davidlangmusic.com

Sara Brown (Scenic Designer) is a set designer based in Boston, MA. Selected designs include Appropriate (Trinity Repertory Company, Providence, RI); Rhinoceros (Playwright’s Theatre and Suffolk University); World of Wires (The Kitchen, NYC & Festival d’Automne, Paris); Hagoromo and A House in Bali (BAM’s Next Wave series); Island and Images from the End of the World (Sloan Sohn Burgess Co., Washington D.C.); The Gacy Play (Sideways Theater, Chicago); The Shape She Makes and The Lily’s Revenge (The American Repertory Theatre, Cambridge, MA); and Mr. G (Central Square Theater, Cambridge, MA). She is a Senior Lecturer for MIT Music and Theater Arts.

SaraDesign.com

Dave Cook (Sound Designer) is a native New Yorker and comes from a background immersed in recording studios, theaters, and concert settings. His work in the pop/rock world has landed him Gold and Platinum album credits with artists such as 10,000 Maniacs, the B-52’s, Nick Cave, Graham Parker, The Golden Palominos, Amy Heino, and many more. His current and previous live concert touring/mixing credits include David Bowie, Radiohead, Natalie Merchant, Todd Rundgren, Carly Simon, Ravi Shankar, Anoushka Shankar, Tony Riley, Marc Cohn, Laurie Anderson, Medeski, Martin and Wood, and Maya Beiser. Cook owns and operates Area 52 Studios in Saugerties, NY. area-52.studios.com

Alejandro Fajardo (Lighting Supervisor) is a Colombian Lighting Designer and Photographer based in New York City, with experience designing plays, musicals, operas, and more. Most recently, he designed The Healing by Sam Hunter for Theatre Breaking Through Barriers. Other credits include shows at La MaMa, Clubbed Thumb/Playwrights Horison School, The Actors Studio, The Curtis Institute of Music, Pace University, and The Williamstown Theatre Festival. He has also assisted on off-Broadway and regional productions, including Fall For...
Fellow in Music; a 2017 Mellon Distinguished Visiting Artist at MIT Center for Fiction; and Technology; and she was recently a Presenting Artist at the inaugural CultureSummit, held in 2017 in Abu Dhabi. Invited to present at the prestigious TED main stage in Long Beach, CA, Beiser’s 2011 TED Talk has been watched by over one million people and translated into 32 languages. Beiser is a graduate of Yale University and was a founding member of the Bang on a Can All-Stars. mayabeiser.com

LUCINDA CHILDS
(Cheerleader) began her career at Judson Dance Theater in New York in 1963. Since forming her dance company ten years later, she has created over 50 works, both solo and ensemble. In 1976 she was featured in the landmark avant-garde opera Einstein on the Beach by Philip Glass and Robert Wilson, for which she won an Obie Award. She subsequently appeared in a number of Wilson’s productions, including I Was Sitting on My Patio This Guy Appeared I Thought I Was Hallucinating, Quartet, by Heiner Müller, Wilson and Glass’s opera White Raven, Wilson’s video project Video 50, and Maladie de la Mort by Marguerite Duras (opposite Michel Piccoli). Most recently, she appeared in Wilson’s production of Arvo Part’s Adam’s Passion also recorded and spoken text and collaborated on the choreography for Letter to a Man, which was based on Nijinsky’s diaries and performed by Mikhail Baryshnikov.

In 1979 Childs choreographed one of her most enduring works, Dance, with music by Philip Glass and film décor by Sol LeWitt, which continues to tour internationally and has been added to the repertory of the Lyon Opera Ballet, for which she has choreographed Beethoven’s Grande Fugue. In 2015 she received Available Light, created in 1983 with music by John Adams and a split-level set by Frank Gehry. It was presented at the Festival d’Automne in Paris and the Manchester International Festival. In 2016, in an exhibit titled “Nothing Personal,” her choreographic scores were shown at the Thaddeus Ropac Gallery in collaboration with the Centre Nationale de la Danse, to which she has donated her archive.

Since 1981 Childs has choreographed over thirty works for major ballet companies, including the Paris Opera Ballet and Les Ballets de Monte Carlo. She has also directed and choreographed a number of contemporary and eighteenth-century operas, including Gluck’s Orfeo ed Euridice for the Los Angeles Opera, Mozart’s Zaide for La Monnaie in Brussels, Stravinsky’s Le Rossignol and Oedipe, Vivaldi’s Farnace, Handel’s Alessandro, and John Adams’s Dr. Atomic for the Opera du Rhin. Her production of Jean Baptiste Lully’s Atys premiered at Oper Kiel in 2014 and for her production of Jean-Marie Leclair’s Scylla and Glaucus premiered in 2017.

Childs is the recipient of numerous awards. She holds the rank of Commandeur in France’s Ordre des Arts et des Lettres and in 2017 she received the Golden Lion award from the Venice Biennale and the Samuel H. Scripps American Dance Festival award for lifetime achievement. In 2018, Childs was inducted into the Hall of Fame at the National Museum of Dance. lucindachilds.com

DAVID LANG
(Words & Music) is one of the most highly esteemed and performed American composers writing today. The New Yorker wrote: “With his winning of the Pulitzer Prize for ‘the little match girl passion’ (one of the most original and moving scores of recent years), Lang, once a postminimalist enfant terrible, has solidified his standing as an American master.” His works have been performed around the world in most of the great concert halls.

Lang’s “simple song #3,” written as part of his score for Paolo Sorrentino’s acclaimed film YOUTH, received many award nominations in 2016, including the Academy Award and Golden Globe. Recent work include his opera prisoner of the state, which premiered in June 2019 with the New York City Opera the loser, which opened the 2016 Next Wave Festival at the Brooklyn Academy of Music and received a West Coast premiere in April 2019 with LA Opera; the public domain for 1000 singers, which premiered at Lincoln’s 2016 Mostly Mozart Festival; his chamber opera anatomy theater premiered at the Prototype Festival in New York and then at LA Opera; the concerto man made for the ensemble So Percussion and a consortium of orchestras, including the BBC Symphony and the Los Angeles Philharmonic; mountain, commissioned by the Cincinnati Symphony; death speaks, a song cycle based on Schubert, but performed by rock musicians, including Bryce Dessens, Banjo, and Shara Worden from My Brightest Diamond; the whisper opera, for the International Contemporary Ensemble and soprano Tony Arnold; and love fail, an evening-length work for the early music vocal ensemble Anonymous 4.

Lang is a Professor of Music Composition at the Yale School of Music and is Artist in Residence at the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton. He is co-founder and co-artistic director of New York’s legendary music collective Bang on a Can. His music is published by Red Poppy Music (ASCAP) and is distributed worldwide by G. Schirmer, Inc. davidlangmusic.com

ALEJANDRO FAJARDO
(Lightning Supervisor) is a Colombian Lighting Designer and Photographer based in New York City, with experience designing plays, musicals, operas, and more. Most recently, he designed The Healing by Sam Hunter for Theatre Breaking Through Barriers, whose 2019 production included shows at La MaMa, Clubbed Thumb/Playwrights Horizon School, The Actors Studio, The Curtis Institute of Music, Pace University, and The Williamstown Theatre Festival. He has also assisted on off-Broadway and regional productions, including Fail For...
Dance and Flamenco Festival at New York City Center, Manhattan Theatre Club, Playwrights Horizons, and New York Theatre Workshop. fjardodesigns.com

JOSHUA HIGGASON (Projection Designer) is a designer of performances, creating unique live experiences for events, concerts, opera, and theater. He designs video and projections, interactive media, sets, and lighting. He started working in experimental theater and art with some groundbreaking companies and has continued developing into a unique voice in the world of immersive media driven experiences. He currently teaches Performance Media, Interactive Design for Live Performance, and Lighting Design at MIT. joshuahiggason.net

NATASHA KATZ (Lighting Designer) has designed extensively for theater, opera, dance, concerts, and permanent lighting installations around the world. Her work in dance incudes lighting for The Royal Ballet in London, American Ballet Theatre, The Joffrey Ballet, San Francisco Ballet, The National Ballet of Canada, New York City Ballet, Pennsylvania Ballet, and Ballet Hispanico. Katz has a long-standing creative relationship with Christopher Wheeldon, having designed the lighting for premieres at the Royal Ballet of Tryst, Alice’s Adventures in Wonderland, and The Winter’s Tale. Katz’s other collaborations with Wheeldon include Continuum (San Francisco Ballet), Carnival of the Animals (New York City Ballet), Swan Lake (Pennsylvania Ballet), Cinderella (Dutch National Ballet), and The Nutcracker (Joffrey Ballet). She designed the lighting for Wheeldon’s Broadway musical An American in Paris, for which she won a Tony Award. She has worked extensively on Broadway and is a six-time Tony winner. Her recent credits include Springsteen on Broadway, The Prom, Frozen, Hello, Dolly! (starring Bette Midler), Aladdin, Long Day’s Journey into Night, The Glass Menagerie, Once, The Coast of Utopia: Salvage, and Aida. Katz is a TDF Wendy Wasserstein Project mentor for high school students and Vice Chair of the American Theatre Wing.

EMILY MCGILLICUDDY (Production Manager) is a New York/Chicago based Production Manager and Stage Manager. She has managed shows in New York City and across the country with Wendy Whelan, Brian Brooks, Keigwin + Company, Karen Sherman, Reggie Wilson/ Fist & Heel Performance Group, Liz Gerring, Satoshi Haga, VIA Dance, and Che Malambro. In addition to her work in dance, she manages fashion shows and events, and produces music festivals. She has toured the world with LA Dance Project and Les Ballets Trockadero de Monte Carlo and is a graduate of North Carolina School of the Arts.

JESS MEdENBACH (Projections Supervisor) is a video and media designer, filmmaker, editor, and producer originally from the Hudson Valley in Upstate New York. Medenbach’s work ranges from media for theater, opera, and live events to Augmented and Virtual Reality applications, short films, music videos, and video installations. Medenbach has worked throughout the United States and Europe, had work displayed in Times Square and has been written about in The New York Times and The Creators Project. Medenbach holds an M.F.A. in Video and Media Design from Carnegie Mellon University and a B.F.A. in Film Production and Electronic Arts from Bard College. jessmedenbach.com

KAREN YOUNG (Costume Designer) is a New York-based costume designer who has designed for numerous dance companies and contemporary video artists. Her costume designs for dance are included in the repertoires of the Martha Graham Dance Company, Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater, Kyle Abraham, Brian Brooks, Sidi Larbi Cherkaoui, Acosta Danza Cuba, Pontus Lidberg, Hubbard Street Dance Chicago, American Ballet Theatre, Ballet Basel, Pam Tanowitz, Sonya Tayeh, and Miami City Ballet, among many others. She designed the costumes for Wendy Whelan’s projects Restless Creature and Some of a Thousand Words and is currently directing the reconstruction and design of the costumes of Martha Graham’s entire repertoire for the Martha Graham Dance Company. Young has designed the costumes for the video works of Eve Sussman, Tony Dove, Matthew Barney’s Cremaster 1 and Cremaster 5, David Michalek’s large-scale outdoor video installations Slow Dancing and Portraits in Dramatic Time, and Michelle Handelman’s Hustlers and Empires. She has taught at the Rhode Island School of Design and the Metropolitan Museum of Art and received research grants from the NEA/TCG development program and the London College of Fashion. karyoungcostume.com

A Note from Maya Beiser

THE DAY is a response to two solo cello works written for me by the composer David Lang — the day and world to come.

The music for the second part, world to come, was actually composed first. A commission from Carnegie Hall, we began working on the piece in September 2001. Both David and I were in New York City when the devastating events of September 11 unfolded. The piece became suffused with the disappearance of the thousands of people who vanished into the ashes of the World Trade Center (WTC) that day. world to come (also sharing the initials, wtc) is a kind of prayer—introjective and personal; a meditation on the eternal, post-mortem journey of the soul as it separates from the body.

The first half of this production, the day, is based on the prequel composition of the same title, written in 2016. Exploring the ways we remember our lives, as they are running away from us, Lang crowd-sourced the narrated text from the Internet. Every phrase that completed the sentence “I remember the day I was treated as a personal statement from someone, somewhere, about a moment that was so significant it felt worth holding onto. The text, appearing every six seconds, is arranged like a prism—in an alphabetical order—with many conflicting facets of each action described from different vantage points.

During the time I recorded these two pieces for an album, I kept seeing images of a woman, a dancer, emerging from the notes of the cello—embodying the voices, recounting these stories, inhabiting these memories, possessing those lives.

Working with Wendy Whelan and Lucinda Childs on this project has been a dream come true. We embarked on this project as a collaborative effort, truly respecting each other as artists. We are blessed to be working with such an extraordinary team: Sara Brown, Dave Cook, Joshua Higgason, Natasha Katz, Karen Young, Emily McGillicuddy, and Christina Jensen, have all been extraordinary.

BIOS

MAYA BEISER (Performer/ Creative Producer) has been described as a renowned cellist, producer, and multifaceted artist of the New York Times writes, “The adventurous Ms. Beiser has been called the ‘cello goddess,’ which is not hyperbole: She summons from her instrument an emotional power so stirring that even the most stoic audience members risk turning into sobbing sacks of flesh.” Passionately forging her artistic path through uncharted territories, Beiser has been captivating audiences worldwide, bringing a bold and unorthodox presence to contemporary classical music, experimenting with various musical styles, and defying conventional norms with her boundary-crossing performances. Hailed as “the reigning queen of avant-garde cello” by The Washington Post, she has been called a “cello rock star,” by Rolling Stone and praised as “a force of nature,” by The Boston Globe.

Raised in the Galilee Mountains in Israel by her Argentinean father and French mother, Beiser spent her early life surrounded by the music and rituals of Jews, Muslims, and Christians, while studying classical cello repertoire. At the age of 12, she was discovered by the late violinist Isaac Stern who became her mentor throughout her early career. She is a featured performer on the world’s most prestigious stages including Lincoln Center, Carnegie Hall, BAM, The Kennedy Center, BBC Proms, London’s Southbank Centre, Royal Albert Hall, the Barbican, Sydney Opera House, Beijing Festival, Barcelona’s L’Auditori, Paris’ Cité de la Musique, and Stockholm’s Concert Hall. Beiser’s critically acclaimed multimedia productions World To Come, Almost Human, Provenance, Elsewhere: A Cello Opera, All Vows, and Spinning have consistently been chosen for top critics’ “Best Of The Year” lists. Among the wide range of artists she has collaborated with are Louis Andriessen, Brian Eno, Philip Glass, Tan Dun, Steve Reich, Shirin Neshat, Bill Morrison, Robert Woodruff, and Lucinda Childs.

Beiser’s vast discography includes 11 solo albums. Her recent albums TranceClassical (2016) and Maya Beiser: Uncovered (2014) topped the classical music charts. Her next album, delugeON, will be released in August 2019 on Beiser’s new Islandia Music Records imprint. She is the featured soloist on many film soundtracks, including an extensive collaboration with composer James Newton Howard for M. Night Shyamalan’s The Happening and After Earth, Denzel Washington’s The Great Debaters, Edward Zwick’s Blood Diamond, and Rupert Sanders’ Snow White and The Huntsman.

Beiser is a 2015 United States Artists (USA) Distinguished...
MEMBERSHIP SUPPORTS EVERYTHING YOU LOVE ABOUT JACOB’S PILLOW

JOIN OUR THOUSANDS OF MEMBERS & SUPPORT THE MISSION OF JACOB’S PILLOW.

You can help the Pillow present outstanding dance artists from around the world, provide training and support to the talented dancers of The School at Jacob’s Pillow, maintain our landmark site, and create free community programs that engage people of all ages and backgrounds with dance.

EVERY GIFT MATTERS.
JOIN AND CHOOSE THE LEVEL RIGHT FOR YOU!

Explore the full list of benefits, then join as a new Member, renew your current membership, or upgrade to a higher level at jacobspillow.org/support/membership.

You can also make a donation by phone at 413.243.9919 x122.

Sustaining members support the Pillow year-round through easy, automatic monthly or quarterly gifts.

Depending on your level, membership gives you access to:

- Early Ticketing
- Admission to Cast Parties
- Pillow Lab showings where you can witness the creative process
- Partner parking passes
- Invitations to Member-Exclusive Events
- Discounts in The Pillow Store

FUNDING AND SUPPORT

THE DAY was conceived by Maya Beiser.

THE DAY was made possible by the New England Foundation for the Arts’ National Dance Project, with lead funding from the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation and The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation.

THE DAY was co-commissioned by Théâtre de la Ville, Paris; Carolina Performing Arts at The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill; Jacob’s Pillow (world premiere at Festival 2019); The Joyce Theater; and Center for the Art of Performance at UCLA.

THE DAY was supported, in part, by the Inaugural Artist Fellowship at The Joyce Theater Foundation’s Artist Residency Center, made possible by lead funding from The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, Howard Gilman Foundation, LuEsther T. Mertz Charitable Trust, and Doris Duke Charitable Foundation. Additional commissioning support was provided by the Wendy Whelan New Works Initiative.

Substantial development support for THE DAY was provided by LUMBERYARD Contemporary Performing Arts and Summer Stages Dance @ ICA/Boston. Additional development support was provided by Baryshnikov Arts Center.

THE DAY was supported in part by a Fay Chandler Faculty Creativity Grant from the MIT Center for Art, Science & Technology.

“world to come” by David Lang was commissioned in 2003 for Maya Beiser by Carnegie Hall, the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, UC Santa Cruz Arts & Lectures, On the Boards, and Connecticut College, with support from Meet The Composer. "the day" by David Lang was commissioned in 2016 for Maya Beiser by Hancher Performances at the University of Iowa.

THE DAY was supported, in part, by the Inaugural Artist Fellowship at The Joyce Theater Foundation’s Artist Residency Center, made possible by lead funding from The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, Howard Gilman Foundation, LuEsther T. Mertz Charitable Trust, and Doris Duke Charitable Foundation. Additional commissioning support was provided by the Wendy Whelan New Works Initiative.

Substantial development support for THE DAY was provided by LUMBERYARD Contemporary Performing Arts and Summer Stages Dance @ ICA/Boston. Additional development support was provided by Baryshnikov Arts Center.

THE DAY was supported in part by a Fay Chandler Faculty Creativity Grant from the MIT Center for Art, Science & Technology.

“world to come” by David Lang was commissioned in 2003 for Maya Beiser by Carnegie Hall, the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, UC Santa Cruz Arts & Lectures, On the Boards, and Connecticut College, with support from Meet The Composer. "the day" by David Lang was commissioned in 2016 for Maya Beiser by Hancher Performances at the University of Iowa.

THE DAY was conceived by Maya Beiser.

THE DAY was made possible by the New England Foundation for the Arts’ National Dance Project, with lead funding from the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation and The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation.

THE DAY was co-commissioned by Théâtre de la Ville, Paris; Carolina Performing Arts at The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill; Jacob’s Pillow (world premiere at Festival 2019); The Joyce Theater; and Center for the Art of Performance at UCLA.

THE DAY was supported, in part, by the Inaugural Artist Fellowship at The Joyce Theater Foundation’s Artist Residency Center, made possible by lead funding from The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, Howard Gilman Foundation, LuEsther T. Mertz Charitable Trust, and Doris Duke Charitable Foundation. Additional commissioning support was provided by the Wendy Whelan New Works Initiative.

Substantial development support for THE DAY was provided by LUMBERYARD Contemporary Performing Arts and Summer Stages Dance @ ICA/Boston. Additional development support was provided by Baryshnikov Arts Center.

THE DAY was supported in part by a Fay Chandler Faculty Creativity Grant from the MIT Center for Art, Science & Technology.

“world to come” by David Lang was commissioned in 2003 for Maya Beiser by Carnegie Hall, the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, UC Santa Cruz Arts & Lectures, On the Boards, and Connecticut College, with support from Meet The Composer. "the day" by David Lang was commissioned in 2016 for Maya Beiser by Hancher Performances at the University of Iowa.

THE DAY was conceived by Maya Beiser.

THE DAY was made possible by the New England Foundation for the Arts’ National Dance Project, with lead funding from the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation and The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation.

THE DAY was co-commissioned by Théâtre de la Ville, Paris; Carolina Performing Arts at The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill; Jacob’s Pillow (world premiere at Festival 2019); The Joyce Theater; and Center for the Art of Performance at UCLA.

THE DAY was supported, in part, by the Inaugural Artist Fellowship at The Joyce Theater Foundation’s Artist Residency Center, made possible by lead funding from The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, Howard Gilman Foundation, LuEsther T. Mertz Charitable Trust, and Doris Duke Charitable Foundation. Additional commissioning support was provided by the Wendy Whelan New Works Initiative.

Substantial development support for THE DAY was provided by LUMBERYARD Contemporary Performing Arts and Summer Stages Dance @ ICA/Boston. Additional development support was provided by Baryshnikov Arts Center.

THE DAY was supported in part by a Fay Chandler Faculty Creativity Grant from the MIT Center for Art, Science & Technology.

“world to come” by David Lang was commissioned in 2003 for Maya Beiser by Carnegie Hall, the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, UC Santa Cruz Arts & Lectures, On the Boards, and Connecticut College, with support from Meet The Composer. “the day” by David Lang was commissioned in 2016 for Maya Beiser by Hancher Performances at the University of Iowa.

THE DAY was conceived by Maya Beiser.

THE DAY was made possible by the New England Foundation for the Arts’ National Dance Project, with lead funding from the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation and The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation.

THE DAY was co-commissioned by Théâtre de la Ville, Paris; Carolina Performing Arts at The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill; Jacob’s Pillow (world premiere at Festival 2019); The Joyce Theater; and Center for the Art of Performance at UCLA.

THE DAY was supported, in part, by the Inaugural Artist Fellowship at The Joyce Theater Foundation’s Artist Residency Center, made possible by lead funding from The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, Howard Gilman Foundation, LuEsther T. Mertz Charitable Trust, and Doris Duke Charitable Foundation. Additional commissioning support was provided by the Wendy Whelan New Works Initiative.

Substantial development support for THE DAY was provided by LUMBERYARD Contemporary Performing Arts and Summer Stages Dance @ ICA/Boston. Additional development support was provided by Baryshnikov Arts Center.

THE DAY was supported in part by a Fay Chandler Faculty Creativity Grant from the MIT Center for Art, Science & Technology.

“world to come” by David Lang was commissioned in 2003 for Maya Beiser by Carnegie Hall, the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, UC Santa Cruz Arts & Lectures, On the Boards, and Connecticut College, with support from Meet The Composer. “the day” by David Lang was commissioned in 2016 for Maya Beiser by Hancher Performances at the University of Iowa.
PILLOWNOTES

by Maura Keefe

The PillowNotes series comprises essays commissioned from our Scholars-in-Residence to provide audiences with a broader context for viewing dance.

For a long time, cellist Maya Beiser hasn’t really fit the expectations of what a classical musician looks like or what a classical musician does. She’s a founding member of Bang on a Can, she plays music from Dvořák and Bach to Pink Floyd, Hindemith of Bingen, and Lou Reed. In an interview when asked about being called a “cello rockstar” and “cello goddess,” she answered, “I imagine it’s because I’m not conforming as a classical performer to the habits people expect. Part of it, curiously, is about what I wear and how I express myself on stage. It’s true I do care about the visual aspect. I think of it as an art form—a total performance.”

That sense of the performance and the visual feeds Beiser’s imagination and led her to imagine an idea for a new project. She’s had lots of ideas in the past. But also, about how music relates to other art forms, especially in the visual realm. But this idea was different. This time, she wanted to experiment with a close collaboration in the dance world.

First, she reached out to Wendy Whelan. Of course, Whelan makes sense. Her knowledge and sensitivity, her sense of adventure as an artist. As the internationally acclaimed dancer began planning to do a new solo work for the principal ballerina with New York City Ballet, she was already experimenting with commissioning new works. For example, she danced a series of new duets, called Restless Creature, which premiered at Jacob’s Pillow in 2013. Right from the beginning of her professional dance career, Whelan has been drawn to music. In a New York Times piece, she recalled feeling as if she was struck by lightning when seeing George Balanchine’s Agon. “In that moment, I discovered the dancer I wanted to one day become: a dancer devoted to choreography and choreographers, a dancer who would do her best in every inch of her voice.” Master dancer joins master musician.

Then came the question of choreographer. Lucinda Childs came to mind, because of what Beiser calls, “her inclination and sensitivity to music.” Beiser knew of the brilliant collaborations between Childs and composer Philip Glass for such works as Einstein on the Beach, with Robert Wilson (1976) and Dance, with Sol LeWitt. When Dance was restaged in 2011, The Guardian dance critic Judith Mackrell wrote: “Childs’ choreography and the dancing also brings a hallucinatory visual clarity to Glass’s score.” Beiser trusted that Childs would expand all of their vocabularies and embark on a genuine choreographic exploration with Whelan. Master choreographer joins the collective, and they begin to work on THE DAY. And each of the women expands her points of view, in all relation to the others.

It all starts with music. Beiser had already started working with composer David Lang on a commissioned solo work for cello on September 11, 2001. They were both living in New York, and thus the work, shaped by music and history, became “A World To Come” (2003). Beiser explains the piece as an investigation of “life after death, a Jewish mystical concept of what happens when we die and how the soul separates itself from the body.” In 2016, Beiser commissioned a kind of prequel, which resulted in Lang’s piece, “The Day.” As Lang describes it, “ ‘the day’ looks at ways we review our lives, exploring remembered moments as a chronicle of a life.” New York Times critic Joshua Barone says the music is, “by turns hopeful, funny, surprising and tragic.”

THE DAY (2019), which premieres at Jacob’s Pillow, brings both Lang’s compositions together in a new way, with Beiser and Whelan in a duet and music of dance. Beiser was intrigued to see what Whelan and Childs would make of music she knew so intimately, because as she remarked, “Collaborators are powerful when they open a new window.” She went on to say, “Beiser went on to say, ‘the music is completely different from musicians.’ That sentiment echoes a statement David Lang made in a PillowTalk in 2011. ‘I really like what dance does to my music. They don’t always do a lot. They focus on one kind of thing, one idea, one sound…It changes what you hear. It changes what you see…I like how it changes what I think is in the music. Sometimes you write the music and you’re still trying to figure out what the hell it is yourself.’”

Each of the collaborators is an experienced and mature artist. Whelan contends that this makes it all the better, “I actually feel that, being this age, I have something more to say than I did when I was 25—something real and worked and experienced. I want to work with living choreographers, dance to live music. I want everything to be alive, full of life.”

Onstage, Whelan and Beiser. The dancer and the musician, united. In the music, the body and the soul, they belong together, how they part. © 2019 Maura Keefe and Jacob’s Pillow Dance Festival

JacquesLagrange
MEMBERSHIP SUPPORTS EVERYTHING YOU LOVE ABOUT JACOB’S PILLOW

JOIN OUR THOUSANDS OF MEMBERS & SUPPORT THE MISSION OF JACOB’S PILLOW.

You can help the Pillow present outstanding dance artists from around the world, provide training and support to the talented dancers of The School at Jacob’s Pillow, maintain our landmark site, and create free community programs that engage people of all ages and backgrounds with dance.

EVERY GIFT MATTERS.
JOIN AND CHOOSE THE LEVEL RIGHT FOR YOU!

Explore the full list of benefits, then join as a new Member, renew your current membership, or upgrade to a higher level at jacobspillow.org/support/membership.

You can also make a donation by phone at 413.243.9919 x122.

Sustaining members support the Pillow year-round through easy, automatic monthly or quarterly gifts.

Depending on your level, membership gives you access to:

- Early Ticketing
- Fan level & above
- Admission to Cast Parties
- Contributor level & above
- Pillow Lab showings where you can witness the creative process
- Supporter level & above
- Priority Parking Passes
- Partners’ Circle level & above
- Invitations to Member-Exclusive Events
- Discounts in The Pillow Store
- Creators’ Circle level & above
- Invitations to Member-Exclusive Events
- Discounts in The Pillow Store
- Full Membership level & above
- Invitations to Member-Exclusive Events
- Discounts in The Pillow Store

FUNDING AND SUPPORT

THE DAY was conceived by Maya Beiser.

THE DAY was made possible by the New England Foundation for the Arts’ National Dance Project, with lead funding from the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation and The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation.

THE DAY was co-commissioned by Théâtre de la Ville, Paris; Carolina Performing Arts at The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill; Jacob’s Pillow (world premiere at Festival 2019); The Joyce Theater; and Center for the Art of Performance at UCLA.

THE DAY was supported, in part, by the Inaugural Artist Fellowship at The Joyce Theater Foundation’s Artist Residency Center, made possible by lead funding from The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, Howard Gilman Foundation, LuEsther T. Mertz Charitable Trust, and Doris Duke Charitable Foundation. Additional commissioning support was provided by the Wendy Whelan New Works Initiative.

Substantial development support for THE DAY was provided by LUMBERYARD Contemporary Performing Arts and Summer Stages Dance @ ICA/Boston. Additional development support was provided by Baryshnikov Arts Center.

THE DAY was supported in part by a Fay Chandler Faculty Creativity Grant from the MIT Center for Art, Science & Technology.

“world to come” by David Lang was commissioned in 2003 for Maya Beiser by Carnegie Hall, the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, UC Santa Cruz Arts & Lectures, On the Boards, and Connecticut College, with support from Meet The Composer. “the day” by David Lang was commissioned in 2016 for Maya Beiser by Hancher Performances at the University of Iowa.

THE DAY was conceived by Maya Beiser.

THE DAY was made possible by the New England Foundation for the Arts’ National Dance Project, with lead funding from the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation and The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation.

THE DAY was co-commissioned by Théâtre de la Ville, Paris; Carolina Performing Arts at The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill; Jacob’s Pillow (world premiere at Festival 2019); The Joyce Theater; and Center for the Art of Performance at UCLA.

THE DAY was supported, in part, by the Inaugural Artist Fellowship at The Joyce Theater Foundation’s Artist Residency Center, made possible by lead funding from The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, Howard Gilman Foundation, LuEsther T. Mertz Charitable Trust, and Doris Duke Charitable Foundation. Additional commissioning support was provided by the Wendy Whelan New Works Initiative.

Substantial development support for THE DAY was provided by LUMBERYARD Contemporary Performing Arts and Summer Stages Dance @ ICA/Boston. Additional development support was provided by Baryshnikov Arts Center.

THE DAY was supported in part by a Fay Chandler Faculty Creativity Grant from the MIT Center for Art, Science & Technology.

“world to come” by David Lang was commissioned in 2003 for Maya Beiser by Carnegie Hall, the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, UC Santa Cruz Arts & Lectures, On the Boards, and Connecticut College, with support from Meet The Composer. “the day” by David Lang was commissioned in 2016 for Maya Beiser by Hancher Performances at the University of Iowa.

THE DAY was conceived by Maya Beiser.

THE DAY was made possible by the New England Foundation for the Arts’ National Dance Project, with lead funding from the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation and The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation.

THE DAY was co-commissioned by Théâtre de la Ville, Paris; Carolina Performing Arts at The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill; Jacob’s Pillow (world premiere at Festival 2019); The Joyce Theater; and Center for the Art of Performance at UCLA.

THE DAY was supported, in part, by the Inaugural Artist Fellowship at The Joyce Theater Foundation’s Artist Residency Center, made possible by lead funding from The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, Howard Gilman Foundation, LuEsther T. Mertz Charitable Trust, and Doris Duke Charitable Foundation. Additional commissioning support was provided by the Wendy Whelan New Works Initiative.

Substantial development support for THE DAY was provided by LUMBERYARD Contemporary Performing Arts and Summer Stages Dance @ ICA/Boston. Additional development support was provided by Baryshnikov Arts Center.

THE DAY was supported in part by a Fay Chandler Faculty Creativity Grant from the MIT Center for Art, Science & Technology.

“world to come” by David Lang was commissioned in 2003 for Maya Beiser by Carnegie Hall, the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, UC Santa Cruz Arts & Lectures, On the Boards, and Connecticut College, with support from Meet The Composer. “the day” by David Lang was commissioned in 2016 for Maya Beiser by Hancher Performances at the University of Iowa.

THE DAY was conceived by Maya Beiser.

THE DAY was made possible by the New England Foundation for the Arts’ National Dance Project, with lead funding from the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation and The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation.
JACOB'S PILLOW EXTENDS SPECIAL THANKS TO OUR VISIONARY LEADERS

VISIONARY LEADERS form an important foundation of support and demonstrate their passion for and commitment to Jacob's Pillow through annual gifts of $10,000 and above.

Their deep affiliation ensures the success and longevity of the Pillow's art offerings, including educational initiatives, free public programs, the School, and the Archives.

$25,000+
Carolyn & Dan Buresh
The Barrington Foundation
Frank & Marie Cordasco
Hon. Stephen P. DiStaso, in honor and memory of John Lindquist & Barton Murrow
Stephanie & Robert Gittelman
Carroll Gray & George Peppard
Joan & Jim Hunter

$10,000+
Dr. Norman Abramson
Deborah & Alasdair Ackland
Rick & Nuri Amurl
Carolina* & Rick Bacelis
Linda & Bob Berok
Sylviya & Luke Blatt
Darrick Carroll & Monica Bodner
Chervenak-Nunnallé Foundation
Neil* & Kathleen Christiansen
Ranny Cooper & David Smith
Jeffrey Depp & Lisa Shapiro, in memory of Robert Gittelman
Hermione Dremer
Sheila Drih
Nancy & Michael Feller
David & Nikki Flavin, in honor of David & Diane Patrick and Mark A. Leavitt
Jeanne Donovan Fisher
Joan* & Charlie Grosse

PILLOWNOTES
by Maura Keefe
The PillowNotes series comprises essays commissioned from our Scholars-in-Residence to provide audiences with a broader context for viewing dance.

For a long time, cellist Maya Beiser hasn’t really fit the expectations of what a classical musician looks like or what a classical musician does. She’s a founding member of Bang on a Can, she plays music from Dvorák and Bach to Pink Floyd, Hindsgaul of Bingan, and Lou Reed. In an interview when asked about being called a “cello rockstar” and “cello goddess,” she answered, “I imagine it’s because I’m not conforming as a classical performer to the habits people expect. Part of it, curiously, is about what I wear and how I present myself on stage. It’s true I do care about the visual aspect. I think of it as an art form—a total performance.”

That sense of the performance and the visual feeds Beiser’s imagination and led her to imagine an idea for a new project. She’s had lots of ideas in the past. But also, about how music relates to other art forms, especially in the visual realm. But this idea was different. This time, she wanted to experiment with a close collaboration in the dance world.

First, she reached out to Wendy Whelan. Of course, Whelan makes sense. She’s known for her boldness and intelligence, her sense of adventure as an artist. As the internationally acclaimed dancer began planning to retire from her role as principal ballerina with New York City Ballet, she was already experimenting with commissioning new works. For example, she danced a series of new duets, called Restless Creature, which premiered at Jacob’s Pillow in 2013. Right from the beginning of her professional career, Whelan has been drawn to music. In a New York Times piece, she recalled feeling as if she was struck by lightning when seeing George Balanchine’s Apogée. “In that moment, I discovered the dancer I wanted to one day become: a dancer devoted to choreography and choreographers, a dancer who would become a vessel for music, a dancer who would offer her best self in every inch of her work.” Master dancer joins master musician.

Then came the question of choreographer. Lucinda Childs came to mind, because of what Beiser calls, “her inclination and sensitivity to music.” Beiser knew of the brilliant collaborations between Childs and composer Philip Glass for such works as Einstein on the Beach, with Robert Wilson (1976) and Dance, with Sol LeWitt (1979). When Dance was restaged in 2011, The Guardian dance critic Judith Mackrell wrote thatChilds’s choreography and “the dancing also brings a hallucinatory visual clarity to Glass’s score.” Beiser trusted that Childs would expand all of their vocabularies and embark on a genuine choreographic exploration with Whelan.

Master choreographer joins the collective, and they begin to work on THE DAY. And each of the women expands her points of view, in all its relation to the others.

It all starts with the music. Beiser had already started working with composer David Lang on a commissioned solo work for cello on September 11, 2001. They were both living in New York, and thus the work, shaped by history and geography, became “A World To Come” (2003). Beiser explores the piece again in July 2019, when she sets out to investigate “life after death, a Jewish mystical concept of what happens when we die and how the soul separates from the body.” In 2016, Beiser commissioned a kind of prequel, which resulted in Lang’s piece, “The Day.” As Lang describes it, “The day looks at ways we review our lives, exploring remembered moments as a chronic of a life.” New York Times dance critic Joshua Barone says the music is, “by turns hopeful, funny, surprising and tragic.”

THE DAY (2019), which premieres at Jacob’s Pillow, brings both Lang’s compositions together in a new way, with Beisel and Whelan in a duet in music and dance. Beiser was intrigued to see what Whelan and Childs would make of music, she knew so intimately, because as she remarked, “Collaborators are powerful when they open a new window.” She went on to say, “I don’t work on how to react to music and I’m not completely different from musicians.” That sentiment echoes a statement David Lang made in a PillowTalk in 2011. “I really like what music does to my music. They don’t always do a lot. They focus on one kind of thing, one idea, one sound…It changes what you hear. It changes what you see…It changes what I think is in the music. Sometimes you write the music and you’re still trying to figure out why it is you are trying to do what it is you are doing.”

Each of the collaborators is an experienced and mature artist. Whelan contends that this makes it all the better, “Just the other day, I feel that, being this age, I have something really interesting to say than I did when I was 25—something real and worked and experienced. I want to work with living choreographers, dance to live music. I want everything to be alive, full of life.”

Onstage, Whelan and Beiser. The dancer and the musician, united. In the music, the body and the soul, how they belong together, how they part.

© 2019 Maura Keefe and Jacob’s Pillow Dance Festival
Dance writer Maura Keefe has led audience programs at various venues across the country and is the Associate Director of Theatre, Dance, and Performance Studies at the University of Maryland, College Park, where she was named the Dorothy G. Madden Professor of Dance in 2018.